

EDWARD HUBBARD

Edward Hubbard, pilot of an airplane company, has signed a contract to establish an international air mail service between Seattle and Victoria, B. C. He will meet all arriving and departing mail carriers at the British Columbia capital, thereby speeding up the trans-Pacific service by at least one day.

FORMER TOKIO PREMIER RAPS TREATY PLANS MAY RESORT TO FORCE

Voices Fear That Tangle Will Result in an "Outburst of Self-Sacrificing Patriotism."

Tokio—Marquis Okuma, former Japanese premier, addressing a meeting recently, strongly attacked the plan to exclude Japanese from America by treaty.

He pointed out that hitherto immigration was restricted under a voluntary agreement because it was realized that restriction was prejudicial to Japan's prestige. The present effort to make restriction statutory, he said, was an act of infidelity to Japanese-American friendship.

The former premier believed that Washington would be able to stop California measures by enlisting public opinion of the whole country. If Japan's appeals to America's sense of international morality failed, the speaker continued, only force remained.

Japan sincerely desired a solution of the problem, he concluded, fearing that otherwise the question would lead up to an outburst of self-sacrificing patriotism for which the Japanese people are noted.

LEAGUE PICKS BELGIAN FOR ITS PRESIDENT

Delegates to Geneva Conference Seek Means of Restoring Life to Discredited Society.

Geneva—"The league is dead, long live the league!" This was the resounding slogan at the opening meeting of the conference, where after Belgium was selected for an especial tribute by the election of Paul Hymans as president of the League of Nations, groups of delegates formed little dots throughout the hall eagerly discussing the pros and cons of proposed amendments to the covenant. Expected amendments are now said to be certain of introduction either by a Scandinavian or a South American nation.

One fact which now is a certainty is that the original society of nations has no more chance to live than a rowboat in a tempest, but out of the ashes of the old Wilsonian chimera is expected to emerge a new and virile organization by which the interests of individual nations will be respected and a worldwide peace assured.

Irish Home Rule Bill In House of Lords

London—The Irish home rule bill passed its first reading in the House of Lords Monday. November 23 has been fixed for the second reading of the bill, when its rejection will be moved by Lord Dunraven.

HUERTA WILL BE HEAD OF MEXICAN CABINET

Mexico City—Adolfo de la Huerta, provisional President of Mexico, will lead the Cabinet to be chosen by General Alvaro Obregon when the latter assumes office as President on December 1, says the Excelsior, which declares it has authentic information to that effect. Alberto J. Pani, the newspaper says, will be named Secretary of the Treasury, and General P. Elias Calles will succeed himself as Secretary of War. General Obregon has thus far declined to comment on the makeup of his official family.

CATTLEMEN TO FORM BODY TO AID INDUS. IV

12 STATES REPRESENTED

Californians Taking Steps to Be Represented at Salt Lake.

San Francisco—Though the 12 Western states have only one-tenth of the population of the United States, they have one-third of the country's total of cattle and supply the bulk of the Eastern live stock market. This fact has been brought forcibly to the attention of over 10,000 Western cattle-raisers, with the result that they are planning a conference of the cattle associations of these 12 states in order to form a centralized organization that will regulate the workings of this enormous Western industry.

The conference is to be held at Salt Lake City the early part of December. The directors of the California Cattle-men's Association met Tuesday at the Palace Hotel in preparation for this conference, which is attracting nationwide attention.

Condemnation of amendment No. 7, the anti-vivisection measure, on the advice of their counsel that should this proposition become a law it would prevent them from dehorning, branding or earmarking their cattle, was incorporated in a resolution adopted at the meeting of the California Association.

Chief among the points which will be brought before the Salt Lake conference is that of gauging the flow of cattle from the Western states to the Eastern market in such a manner that a congestion will not ensue, as has been the case in the past, with its attendant loss to the shippers.

The 12 states to be represented are: California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Texas, Washington, Wyoming and Utah.

LOW PRICES MARK OPENING RICE BIDS

Outlook for Season Not as Bright as Last Year.

Sacramento—The first bids this season for California rice were opened at the Pacific Rice Growers' Association headquarters here, but prices will not be announced until Tuesday's bids have been referred back to individual growers.

Producers present at the opening of bids expressed extreme dissatisfaction with the offers, said to range around $3.30 a hundred pounds. Last season the price reached $7.

"The outlook for the coming rice season is not so bright as last year," Charles Merry, secretary of the Growers' Association said. "Unsettled conditions in all markets have naturally hit the rice market as well. We have hope that the next few months will bring more stable times, however."

Flood of Letters Offer Jobs to Immigrants

New York—Hundreds of letters from manufacturers, coal operators, railway managers, farmers and other employers of labor were received at Ellis Island offering jobs to immigrants. The letters were sent as a result of the activities of the newly organized bureau of immigration distribution, which is seeking to place immigrants for American industry.

BRITISH COLUMBIA TO VOTE ON PROHIBITION

Vancouver (B. C.)—The prohibition plebiscite Wednesday is expected to draw a heavy vote throughout the province when the voters will express their choice between prohibition as it now exists and the sale of liquor under government control. Prohibitionists and moderationists completed their campaign Tuesday.

SNOW STORM SWEEPS MOUNTAINS IN THE SOUTH

San Bernardino—A heavy snowstorm swept San Bernardino mountains Tuesday. There are eight inches of snow in Big Bear valley and six inches at Little Bear valley. The snow was accompanied by a heavy wind. In San Bernardino valley the rainfall ranged from .30 of an inch in Fontain. Wind did some damage in the valley.

RUSSIAN-POLAND COMPLETE PACT ON PEACE TERMS

FRENCH ARE DISSATISFIED

Bolsheviks Insist Poles Are Much Less Favored Than in February Offer.

London—The Bolshevik commune of Tuesday shows that fighting is active on all fronts. Both sides are attacking with varying success.

Riga—A preliminary peace treaty and armistice was signed by the Polish and Russian soviet peace delegates here at 7:10 o'clock Tuesday night.

The armistice actually becomes effective at midnight, October 18.

The announcement that peace was to be signed brought great crowds to the square surrounding the Blackhead House. M. Joffe and the Bolshevik delegation entered the hall first, and were followed by M. Domb-ski and the Polish delegation. About 200 persons, including the entire diplomatic body, crowded the small room.

Experts are engaged in completing the Ukrainian text of the armistice and preliminary peace treaty between Poland and Russia and Ukraine. Completion of this work was the last preliminary to signature of the convention, which was framed after twenty days of negotiation.

Both Adolf Joffe, head of the Russian soviet peace mission, and N. Domb-ski express satisfaction with the terms agreed upon. The Bolsheviks insist the preliminary treaty is much less favorable than the peace offered Poland last February, and the failure of the Poles to have a financial settlement included in the preliminary convention has been generally regarded as a soviet triumph.

Among the automobile requirements should be one that those learning to drive machines should keep off streets in the busy and crowded business thoroughfares and take to the outlying sections of the city, where traffic is slight and pedestrians and vehicles few, until the operator can properly guide the car, says Baltimore American.

Ray Chapman's death from being hit on the head by a pitched ball calls sharply to the attention of sport-loving Americans the very real peril that each man faces as he steps up to the home plate with a bat in his hand to encounter the lightning-like delivery of the modern baseball pitcher. The speed of the pitched ball is so terrific that only the clearest of eyes and the best of nerves enable a man to succeed as a batsman, and sometimes even these fail him.

American boy scouts gave a Wild West show in Paris to thousands of spectators, including many French boys. It must have given a thrill, even to gay Paris, and the French boys will live on in lingering envy of the glorious life, hunting Indians and roping cattle, which is the natural endowment of his American contemporary.

CAMPBELL-SAN TOMAS GETS HIGHEST PRAISE

CONSOLIDATION MAKES BETTER ORGANIZATION POSSIBLE

One of the biggest boosts, officially, that Campbell consolidated school proposition has yet received was contained in the statement of State Supervisor George Hjelte of Sacramento, made this week.

Mr. Hjelte is supervisor of physical education, and stated that Campbell-San Tomas Union district has an organization for this work second to none in the state. And we have just begun.

This organized supervised plan is due in a great measure to the untiring efforts of Principal R. J. Rodriguez, who has been the impelling spirit in the movement. Mr. Rodriguez is of course much pleased with the high compliment paid him by this official, but states that such efficiency has only been made possible by the loyal support and cooperation of the corps of teachers and the willing spirit manifested by the pupils.

Monday the county supervisors unanimously granted the petition of Hamilton district to join the Campbell league of schools. This was done, as not a dissenting note was made by the residents of Hamilton district.

Consolidation has long been a thing desired by many of the boosters of Meridian district, L. H. Lewars being one of its strongest and most ardent supporters. It is now reported that a petition to the supervisors for union with Campbell has been signed by about 80 per cent of the patrons, and that district will doubtless be one with us ere long.

It is quite evident that the residents of the rural districts see the great advantages of consolidation, and in the strength of such a union district as this will make, great things are in store for our coming school system, from which Campbell children will benefit equally with our neighbors.

In Lake county 17 districts were united into three centers with inestimable success, and any one of a doubtful mind may get more light by writing Miss M. Ferguson, county school superintendent of that county.

COUNTY CLUBS GUESTS

The County Alliance will be the guests of the Country Woman's club Saturday afternoon, Nov. 27, the meeting being held in the parlors of the Methodist church.

That day having been set as the Tercentennial Day of the Landing of the Pilgrims, that event has been made the motif of the afternoon. The committee will be in Puritan costume and refreshments will also be in keeping.

An interesting program has been prepared. Mrs. I. W. Merrill will discuss "Plymouth of Yesterday" and Mrs. E. R. Smith "Plymouth of Today." Mrs. Ralph Hyde will sing "The Quaker Girl," the committee will sing in chorus songs of the day, and Mrs. Shaw will give a reading.

Fifteen clubs are in the Alliance and an attendance of two hundred is anticipated. A full attendance of members of the Country Woman's club is urged and each to make herself a committee of one to assist in reception and entertainment.

THANKSGIVING FESTIVAL

Preparations are well under way to make the Boys' Band benefit a big financial and social success. Manager S. N. Hedegard hopes to make this festivity one long to be remembered by all who have the best interests of Campbell at heart. Tickets have been issued and the sale campaign will be carried on during next week.

The big doings will begin at 7:30 Friday evening, Nov. 26, and last till eleven or thereabouts, so "doff up" and meet me at the I. O. O. F. hall.

GETTING IN TOUCH WITH THE BEST

Edward Everett Hale used to counsel young people to converse every day with some one older, better and wiser than themselves. We cannot all do that, but we can do the next best thing:
we can get in touch with them through the printed page, and enjoy the fruits of their wisdom and experience. Probably no publication contains so much from the writings of men and women distinguished in many ways as The Youth's Companion. A constant reading of the paper is a liberal education of mind and heart.

The Companion has no age limit.
Professional men, business men and busy women prize it as highly as the young folks.

The 52 issues of 1921 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues

Every person mentally and physicaprevented a case of blood poison by giving prompt and proper treatment before the doctor arrived.

WHY NOT EXTEND SUPERVISED PLAY? THAT IS a suggestion from one of our readers in a written commendation to the Press on last week's editorial: "Parents, Where Were Your Sons and Daughters Last Night?" And why not? Play is, and rightly so, a very necessary part of every child's education and development. By our school instructors and trainers, boys and girls are supervised and directed in their play, from the kindergarten through college. A boy or girl who is so unfortunate as to go through school without learning the art of play has lost one of the great boons that every soul is heir to: that of getting zest out of contests and struggles and becoming a good loser.

Dancing, from pre-historic times, has been one of the play pastimes of all peoples. It develops graceful bearing and movement as no other exercise will. Why discourage its indulgence in our community by driving those who enjoy it to other halls of questionable reputation? Why not promote this pastime and pleasure with proper supervision and keep our growing generation closer to our own hearths and homes. Where possible, hold them in the homes.

Can you recall the day when you were young and danced at your school or class functions with faculty and parents as guests and patrons? If so, you probably would have been still worse than you are, if there had been no such chaperoned dances.

Several of the women's clubs of Campbell are much in favor of this movement. Get behind them and help some of the mothers control their children's social activities.

RED CROSS BUSY

The local Red Cross branch, with C. H. Whitman, president, J. B. Strong, treasurer, and E. B.
Baugh, acting secretary, are in charge of the local subscription campaign. No house to house cavass is being made but all are urged to answer the call and leave their funds with these men. Mrs.
M. E. Purmort has been making a street cavass to meet those of outside territory who may wish to support this great cause.

The Red Cross comes to its 4th Roll Call with its war task still unfinished and its peace program rapidly developing. Never were the world and national needs so pressing and the corresponding opportunities of service so great.

It is only too evident that the world has not been able even to approach re-establishment after and sickness stare us in the face in Europe, and the Red Cross is carrying on to the extent of its resources in an attempt to answer the call for help. How permanent and far-reaching that answer shall be depends upon the mind and the conscience of the American people. The American Red Cross has about reached the limit of its resources remaining from the days of the war.

It has acquired an incalculable asset in the fact that during the months of the past it has "learned how." To what extent the American people may contribute in answer to the call from overseas, to that extent the American Red Cross will render fully and freely of its services.

At home the wounded and sick soldiers and sailors in hospitals and elsewhere are still numbered by the thousands. The Red Cross cannot demobilize its forces organized to stand beside those who gave their best for their country and extend what aid and comfort may be possible. The task of helping the government departments make possible the return of soldiers and sailors to civil life still calls for Red Cross support in all communities throughout the land.

EDITORS PAY VISIT TO MARION STAR AND FIND A REAL PAPER.

"If President Harding is as big a success as Editor Harding he will go down in history in the Hall of Fame," writes J. Gabbert of Riverside, Cal., in an article just published on his return from Marion, where he visited Harding's paper.

"We found just the sort of a paper a future President might be expected to edit," says Mr. Gabbert, "and the visit, to us came nearer to being an editorial conference than a political crusade."

"We found men working for Editor Harding who had been with him for periods varying from 20 to 38 years.
We found that Editor Harding follows closely every detail incident to the publication of his paper. He knows what pay the helpers on the floor get,
just as he knows the amount he pays his manager. He can handle type like the rest of us, and it would keep my foreman busy to beat him on setting up a stick of 8-point type. He knows how to make up a paper like a veteran and he is just as much at home in the business office looking over the advertising accounts."

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The W. C. T. U. of Campbell was entertained at a special meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 17th, at the home of Mrs. C. H. Whitman, having as guests county president Mrs. M. Hollingsworth, and Mrs.
Carrie Jackson, secretary of the Young People's branch in California. A subject of much interest was the Jubilee Drive for Membership which the unions of California are entering into.

Both ladies gave short talks upon this and other matters of importance. It is expected that every member will do something in soliciting new members, both honorary and regular. It is also hoped that the plan may increase attendance at the regular meetings of the union. His special meeting was an "echo meeting," having brief reports of the state convention. The following are a few of the items given. Ben. F.
Gies, Asst. U. S. District Attorney, told of the many difficulties in enforcing the prohibition law.
The liquor interests are making a great effort to bring the law into disrepute. He can only try, at best, four cases a day, and has over 2,000 awaiting trial. Said there were two horses planned to pull our prohibition load. One was the Federal Law, the other "was out to pasture," referring to No. 2 on the ballot. Mr. Harris, author of No. 2, also addressed the convention, saying that the above measure would not cost California one cent extra but would merely put present machinery in effective motion. We are asked by its opponent to swap off the Constitution of the United States for wine and beer, virtually desiring us to nullify our constitution and secede from the Union.

"If you can break one part of the constitution the other fellow can break another part, and anarchy will prevail." Beside the echoes of the convention there was a short program, which included the presentation of chrysanthemums by Mrs. M. J. Wilson to Mrs. Hollingsworth and a bou-quet of bride roses to Mrs. Jackson by Mrs. Waldwin. There was a piano solo by Miss Leah Johnson, a recitation by Levant Bal-win, and a short talk by Mr.
Whitman in behalf of the Red Cross drive.

Light refreshments were served during the social hour. About forty ladies enjoyed a pleasant and profitable afternoon, strangers were warmly welcomed and all felt it was indeed good to be there.

That Safe Deposit Box

A Story of the Brown Family

When the Brown family returned home to find a pile of glowing coals and smoldering rubbish where their house had stood, Mr. Brown took from his pocket a small numbered key, looked appraisingly at the ruins, then at the key and sighed softly. "Twice," he said aloud,
"I've been to my safe deposit box; once when burglars ransacked the place, and now when the house itself has gone up in smoke."

Next day the insurance adjuster and Mr. Brown went to the bank together. Mr. Brown paused before the wicket and held up his key. "Number 53," he said. Then he and the adjuster passed on back to the vault.
The smiling bank clerk inserted the master key, Mr. Brown inserted his, a tiny steel door opened, and the box was before them. In the box were the insurance policies, deeds, receipts, Liberty bonds, Mrs. Brown's jewels, a few keepsakes of special value, and lastly, an inventory of the Brown household effects. "It's a pleasure," the adjuster complimented, "to deal with a thorough-going business man like you. You will get the full policies and no delays."

At our bank, which is also your bank, is a new nest of safe deposit boxes. However sound you may seem to be as a business manager, there is a weak link in your business chain unless you are renting safe deposit service. Come in, present your $2, and select your number.

Foods of Value Recommended

We are fortunate in having customers who take an interest in our merchandise, patrons who recognize values, and kindly express an opinion. Through knowledge so learned, the salespeople make progress in ability to serve.

One patron talks of those Hubbard Squash. "I baked some of the squash," she said, and served with only salt and butter. It was delicious." Another customer served the squash as a vegetable by boiling it, and found results delightful. The principal use of them, however, is for pies. "I never tasted a better pie in my life," is a regular comment. We have a new supply of these Hubbard Squash. They retail by the pound, at 2½c.

Another patron talks of coffee. "I can't get away from Blaine's Steel-Cut Coffee," she says. "I've tried other brands, but they don't go." Another says, "Blaine's Coffee—always!" And still another, a man this time, remarks, "Here's 45c for a package of that celebrated Blaine's Coffee." Note, please, that he said "celebrated."

Being thankful for nice customers reminds us of Thanksgiving, which comes next week. There are cranberries here at 22c, walnuts at 25c, Brazil nuts at 40c, oranges at 75c, and brilliant red Jonathan apples at 40c,—you'll admire these apples. Then there are peels, raisins, currants, boiled cider and Folger's spices—wherewithals to make Thanksgiving what you expect. Remember it's the extras, the trimmings, that count.

CAMPBELL NIGHT

Tuesday evening the Campbell members of San Jose chapter No. 31, O. E. S., were a committee on entertainment for the social hour.

A short program was given by local talent followed by refreshments that were also home product largely—George E. Hyde's & Co.'s famous Sunnyside Brand. Ready to Serve prunes, with whipped cream and rolls from our home bakery. Brown paper camels with a real prune hump were the favors on each plate.

The decorations had their native habitat in this community also, vineyards, flower and vegetable gardens yielded their toll of autumn fruits and foliage, which made a harvest festival bower of the dining hall. A short time was spent in dancing before the party disbanded.

The committee hereby expresses its thanks to all who aided in making "Campbell night" a success.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED

A small gathering of neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ralston Alison surprised them Monday evening, the occasion being their twentieth wedding anniversary.

An English whist drive furnished the chief entertainment until the ladies served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Alison were presented with two pieces of china which they are acquiring.

The affair was a real surprise and a pleasant evening for all present.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE TABLEUX.

"The other evening," said Daddy, "some children gave tableaux which, as I've told you, are like pictures. The children get in positions to make them look like the pictures and then they stand quite still while the curtain is drawn up and the people see the tableau."

"At these tableaux the other evening were the mothers and fathers and older sisters and brothers of the children and many other people came too. The children gave these tableaux and with the help of their mothers got up their own costumes and did all the work assisted by a few grown-ups. They charged admission for they worked hard over them and had very fine ones, and the money they made went straight to a fresh air fund so that children in the city whose daddies and mothers were not well off at all could get a little of the country and the fresh air in the summer away from the city."

"These children saw that they had no expenses. They made an old dining-room table as a platform and put a rug over it."

"Their curtain was of old velvet curtains which had been lent to them and the stage was very pretty with flowers and greens and ferns."

"I thought that it might be nice for Nick and Nancy and their friends to get up some tableaux and give them for the benefit of some good charity. For you will get so much fun out of them yourselves and you will be giving others fun, too, which they otherwise would not have."

"It's always fun to dress up and to act—even if one acts without saying a word and looking just like a statue."

"What do you think about it, Nick and Nancy? Do you think you would like to give some tableaux? And wouldn't you like to give the money you make to some nice charity so that others could get some pleasure out of your fun too?"

"We'd love it," said Nancy. "And we'll work hard so folks will consider that our show is worth the money," laughed Nick.

"You can have volunteer ushers, and so they will all be known to be ushers

Big Paper Hats.

they can all wear big paper hats of different colors as I once saw ushers wear."

"Some of the tableaux which are easy to give are of fancy dress balls, and of boys and girls dressed to look like the Fairyland people."

"And tableaux are nice of scenes on the farm, and at the beach and on the tennis court and fishing. A nice one to end up with is to have all the youngest boys and girls in their little night clothes carrying candles and candle sticks—all ready for bed. But it is as well not to light the candles for there might be accidents then with fire. Candles wouldn't show well anyway with all the lights for the audience turned on too."

"Then there are nice tableaux taken from famous pictures, many of that kind."

"Don't you think it would be fun, children?"

"Oh, great fun, Daddy. Thank you so much for suggesting it to us. We'll get all the children interested in it tomorrow. And we'll get it ready in two weeks. Would that give us long enough?"

"Just about right," said Daddy, "for you'll have time enough with a good deal of hard work to get everything ready by that time and it won't be so long as to make you feel you have all the time in the world."

"And you can fix very simple costumes and they're just as pretty. They're easier to get into and they won't make your mothers all wish I had never suggested such a thing!"

Nick and Nancy laughed. "We promise to dress up in simple things," they said.

"And when one boy has something in the way of a costume which will make him do for a certain part give that part to him. That is also a good idea."

"And one more thing, when you give your tableaux, have the children who're to act in the next tableaux ready while one is being given, as then there will be no waits and waits make audiences very, very weary."

And off went Nick and Nancy to get up a series of tableaux which they decided they would give for the benefit of a fund they knew of which was being raised to help city children get to the country. And at the same time they knew what fun they would all have getting up the tableaux.

OUT OF IT.

Did you ever sit down alone, a stranger in a strange town, and wonder what the people you knew were doing back in the place you still felt was home? It is an odd and uncomfortable feeling that comes to human beings now and then that they are "out of things," away from those who know them, those with whom they have been used to visit constantly, away from the bunch. Then did you ever go to some celebration the crowd had planned and have a good, jolly time, the kind of good time people who know each other well can have, and remember that this time some one else was out of it? The uncomfortable things prick our consciousness so much more than the comfortable. It is so much easier to think of the crowd when one is lonesome than to think of the lonesome one when one is with the crowd—so much easier that the reward is tenfold when one does think of the other chap and writes to tell him about it, and doesn't forget to say: "Everybody missed you."

There is not great danger of bubonic plague gaining any great foothold in this country though cases of it have appeared this year at Pensacola, New Orleans and Galveston. At the same time it is a dread disease for which there is no known cure, and protection comes through preventive measures. The infection is conveyed by fleas escaped from rats brought on ships from Chinese or other ports where the plague is nearly always found. Dr. Victor G. Hensler of New York, America's foremost authority on the disease, says that while there is not much likelihood of an outbreak of the plague, preventive action is always in order and that it is a good time to engage in a rat campaign.
